

Decision by the Judicial Review Board September 6th, 2010

On September 4th, 2010, this Board received a formal request for judicial interpretation of the Undergraduate Association Constitution by a member of the undergraduate student body.

Request from Harrison Bralower, UA Election Commission Chair:
Evaluate the constitutionality of having a co-operative Class Council President and a co-operative Class Council Vice-President.

Decision:
Our decision is that the offices of Class Council President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Secretary are not co-operative offices and therefore only individuals may run for a respective office.

Explanation:
Articles 4.5 and 4.6 of the Class Council Constitution are the most relevant and explicitly accounts for multiple Class Social Chairpersons and Class Publicity Chairpersons, whereas Articles 4.1-4.4 only account for an individual officer for each of the offices of the Class Council President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Secretary.

Article 2.2.3 of the UA Constitution also grants each Class Council President ex-officio privileges on the UA Executive Committee.

Considering the spirit of the Class Council Constitution and the privileges extended to the Class Council President by the UA Constitution, the Judicial Board finds that the offices of Class Council President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Secretary shall each be filled by only one person per office.
